Document code · SOST-GUI-002 Version 01 · 01 June 2026

Purpose

To encourage responsible decisions before and during travel while respecting people, ecosystems and Peru's cultural heritage. This guidance complements instructions from accredited guides, tourism operators and the relevant destination authorities.

A message to travelers

Traveling through Peru is an opportunity to discover its rich natural and cultural heritage. The choices you make during your visit can help protect destinations and benefit local communities. We invite you to enjoy mindful, respectful and safe travel experiences.

Our ten principles for responsible travel

01 Respect cultural heritage

Follow access rules at archaeological sites, monuments and museums. Do not touch, remove or alter heritage objects or features.

02 Protect ecosystems

Stay on authorized trails, follow guide instructions and leave no trace in natural areas.

03 Reduce waste

Carry a reusable water bottle where feasible, avoid single-use plastics and use designated waste bins.

04 Use water and energy responsibly

Avoid unnecessary consumption in accommodation and travel services; report leaks and waste.

05 Respect local communities

Ask permission before photographing people and respect local traditions, languages and cultural practices.

06 Support the local economy

Where feasible, buy authentic handicrafts and choose legitimate local products and services.

07 Protect children and adolescents

Never participate in or tolerate any form of exploitation. If you suspect a risk, promptly contact the relevant authorities or responsible tourism operator.

08 Treat wildlife responsibly

Do not feed, handle or pose for photographs with wild animals in harmful conditions; avoid products made from protected species.

09 Travel safely and stay informed

Respect destination regulations, visitor capacity limits, weather restrictions and safety instructions.

10 Share good practices

Encourage responsible behavior and report opportunities for improvement through your travel agency's service channels.

Before departure

Check entry, health, weather and destination guidance from current official sources. Tell your operator about any specific needs and review prohibited items in protected natural areas and cultural heritage sites.

During your trip

If you witness behavior that endangers people, wildlife or heritage, prioritize your own safety and inform the guide or operator and, where appropriate, the competent authorities. Avoid direct confrontation.
